Canon Factory Certified Program

When you choose a Canon Factory Certified model, you're buying high-quality office equipment that's good for the environment and your budget.

Canon Factory Certified Series models are produced at our U.S.-based manufacturing facility in Newport News, Virginia. This program is part of Canon's responsible product life cycle management principles. It reflects the company's commitment to limit its impact on the environment by extending product life and conserving natural resources through reliable, high-quality remanufactured office equipment.

At Canon, the most popular models are selected for the Factory Certified Program. Equipment recovered and collected from the field are sent to Canon's facility where company-trained technicians evaluate each unit using rigorous computerized testing procedures prior to entering our production process.

Units that qualify are thoroughly inspected and cleaned, with a prescribed number of parts replaced so as to ensure operation and quality to Canon standards. Each model is assigned a new model name and serial number. It may also incorporate new features and/or functions, and its meter is reset to zero. This model contains new, refurbished, and/or recovered parts and fully meets the original equipment's quality and operational standards.

Since 1993, Canon has extended the lives of thousands of copiers through its remanufacturing efforts. And, together with its customers, Canon is helping to leave a green footprint on the Earth for the benefit of future generations.
